MARKET ANALYSIS

The global local anesthesia drugs market is estimated to be valued at USD 5.60 billion in 2021 and is projected to reach USD 6.75 billion by 2026 at a CAGR of 3.8%. The core drivers which contribute to the market expansion include the increasing volume of surgeries related to chronic diseases, cardiovascular, accidents, cancer, nervous disorders and even getting relief from post-surgery. Moreover, the growing patient pool, rising geriatric population, increasing technological advancements, soaring requirement and inclination for innovative drugs, upsurge in government initiatives, rising cosmetic surgeries are acting as a growth catalyst. Additionally, rising funding on healthcare, burgeoning investments from key players, increasing new pipeline product launches, and increasing research & development activities will boost the market development.
