Market Analysis

Breast cancer can be developed due to some of these reasons such as reduced breast feeding, rise in age of childbearing, undergoing estrogen modifying drug treatments and high intake of oral contraceptive pills. The factors that are boosting the global market for breast cancer therapeutics during the forecast period include increase in the number of women complaining of such problems and the successive increase in the number of breast cancer cases.

Another factor that is creating lucrative growth opportunities for breast cancer therapies is raising number of obese women. With change in lifestyle & unhealthy food habits, the rate of obesity is raising by the day. Obesity further causes different health problems such as cardiovascular disorders, gall bladder diseases, breathing problems, diabetes and breast cancer among other people.

Some breast cancer medications can have serious side effects, and this may act as an obstacle to the market. Besides this, countries that lack of awareness and it may restrict expansion of the market. Also, social taboos prevalent in these countries may act as major part of the deterrents to growth.

Women health refers to health problems which are unique to a women anatomy such as difficulties that are related to pregnancy, menopause, and female organs. Even though slightly less than half of the world's population is female, historically medical research neglect the health needs of women, other than reproductive issues due to gender-differentiated access to medical treatment. However, women's health issues have attained higher international perceptibility in recent decades. Recently there have been significant changes in government and private support of women's health research, in regulations, policies and the organization of research efforts.
