MARKET ANALYSIS

After the major survey has been done, the chemical market is expected to grow from $4.1 trillion in 2013 to $5.5 trillion by 2022. Key aspects of this development remains China, where CAG's 25% market share in the chemical industry ended in 2013, but the 8% annual growth rate in 2022 will continue to drive the trade. Improved innovations in the automotive, power conversion, construction and electronics industries will drive the growth and development of chemical industry methods. The Chinese economy is pleased with the exceptional pace of development at the end of the day. Among the industries with demand, the industry in general of the economy also has a high growth rate in line with the growth rate of the whole country.

According to the development, the chemical industry will gradually grow between 2013 and 2022, increasing by only a little over a trillion dollars in the years leading up to 2020, due to the continued stagnation of the global economy and the downturn in the Chinese economy. Even though the Chinese market grew by 25% between 2003 and 2013, growth is predicted to drop by a whopping 2/3 to 8% by 2022. As a result, it is anticipated that by 2022, the Chinese market will be worth almost $2 trillion.

ABOUT VENUE

PARIS

Paris is the capital and most populous city of France. Paris is located in north-central France, in a northern bending arc of the Seine whose crest includes two islands, Île Saint-Louis and the larger Île de la Cité, which form the oldest part from the city. Paris has a typical Western European oceanic climate which is affected by the North Atlantic Current. The general climate throughout the year is mild and moderately humid. Paris has been one of the main European centers of finance, diplomacy, commerce, fashion, science and the arts. Central Paris contains the city's most visited monuments, including Notre-Dame Cathedral and the Louvre as well as Sainte-Chapelle. Les Invalides, where Napoleon's tomb is located, and the Eiffel Tower are located on the left bank to the southwest of the center. For centuries, Paris has attracted artists from around the world, who come to the city to train and seek inspiration from its vast pool of artistic resources and galleries. As a result, Paris acquired a reputation as a "City of Art". Italian artists had a profound influence on the development of art in Paris in the 16th and 17th centuries, particularly in sculpture and reliefs. Painting and sculpture became the pride of the French monarchy, and the French royal family commissioned many Parisian artists to adorn their palaces during the era of French Baroque and Classicism.
