Market Analysis

PULSUS
WWW.PULSUSCONFERENCE.COM

Cosmetic surgery is a facultative operation that involves improving a person's looks. It can be conducted in all parts of the body. Such operations include facelift, lip augmentation, liposuction, breast augumentation, rhinoplasty, blepharoplasty etc. The most popular nonsurgical procedures included botulinum toxin, or botox, hyaluronic acid, hair removal, and photo rejuvenation. The rising popularity of medical tourism is a major factor that increases the growth of the cosmetic surgery market as high-grade treatments in developing countries can be performed at a lower price than in the advanced countries. In terms of propinquity, Americans prefer to travel to Brazil, Mexico, Costa Rica, and Panama for cosmetic surgery, but for low-price treatments, Malaysia, Singapore, Hungary, and India are the preferred destinations. Approximately about 34% of medical tourists are travel mainly for cosmetic surgery. The market for facial injectables will grow at a CAGR of 10% by 2022, owing to the increasing popularity of minimally invasive procedures like Botox and dermal fillers. These procedures are often used to treat deep wrinkles in the face and give a more natural look in contrast to surgical procedures.

About City and Venue

PULSUS

Singapore is the largest port in Southeast Asia and one of the busiest in the world. It owes its growth and prosperity to its focal position at the southern extremity of the Malay Peninsula, where it dominates the Strait of Malacca, which connects the Indian Ocean to the South China Sea. Singapore is in the equatorial monsoon region of Southeast Asia, and its climate is characterized by uniformly high temperatures and nearly constant precipitation throughout the year. The average monthly temperature varies from about 81° F (27° C) in June to 77° F (25° C) in January. The daily range is somewhat greater, averaging about 13° F (7° C). Singapore's maritime location and constant humidity, however, keep maximum temperatures relatively moderate: the highest temperature ever recorded was only 97° F (36° C).
