Market Analysis

Cosmetic surgery is a facultative operation that involves improving a person's looks. It can be conducted in all parts of the body. Such operations include facelift, lip augmentation, liposuction, breast augumentation, rhinoplasty, blepharoplasty etc. The most popular nonsurgical procedures included botulinum toxin, or botox, hyaluronic acid, hair removal, and photo rejuvenation. The rising popularity of medical tourism is a major factor that increases the growth of the cosmetic surgery market as high-grade treatments in developing countries can be performed at a lower price than in the advanced countries. The market for facial injectables will grow at a CAGR of 10% by 2022, owing to the increasing popularity of minimally invasive procedures like Botox and dermal fillers. These procedures are often used to treat deep wrinkles in the face and give a more natural look in contrast to surgical procedures.

GLOBAL ANALYSIS: The Market size of the international cosmetic surgery is forecasted to reach USD 21.97 billion and would widen at a CAGR of approximately 7.8% over the forecast origin (2017-2023). Also, peer pressure for appearance and changing dimensions of beauty are key factors influencing the growth of the market.

Cosmetic surgery market share is forecasted to witness remarkable growth due to increasing safety margins, growing weight problems, accidents and rise of cosmetic surgery hospitals. The cosmetic surgery market is an ever-growing space. Advancement of technology and the development of advanced materials such as silicone implants etc., support the growth of the vend. Moreover, social and cultural factors such as the influence of media, fashion & film industry, and social networking apps such as Facebook and Instagram escalate the market on the global platform.

REGIONAL ANALYSIS: Geographically, the Global Medical Aesthetics Market is segmented into North America (the US and Canada), Europe (Germany, the UK, France, and the Rest of Europe), Asia Pacific (Japan, China, India, South Korea, and the Rest of Asia Pacific), and the Rest of the World (Latin America, the Middle East, and Africa).

About City and Venue

Paris is the capital and most populous city of France, with an estimated population of 2,175,601 residents as of 2018, in an area of more than 105 square kilometers (41 square miles) Since the 17th century, Paris has been one of Europe's major centers of finance, diplomacy, commerce, fashion, gastronomy, science, and arts. The City of Paris is the Centre and seat of government of the region and province of Île-de-France, or Paris Region, which has an estimated population of 12,174,880, or about 18 percent of the population of France as of 2017. According to the Economist Intelligence Unit Worldwide Cost of Living Survey in 2018, Paris was the second most expensive city in the world, after Singapore and ahead of Zürich, Hong Kong, Oslo, and Geneva.

Another source ranked Paris as most expensive, on par with Singapore and Hong Kong, in 2018. Paris is a major railway, highway, and air-transport hub served by two international airports: Paris–Charles de Gaulle. Opened in 1900, the city's subway system, the Paris Métro, serves 5.23 million passengers daily. Gare du Nord is the 24th-busiest railway station in the world, but the busiest located outside Japan, with 262 million passengers in 2015. Paris is especially known for its museums and architectural landmarks: the Louvre remained the most-visited museum in the world with 2,677,504 visitors in 2020, despite the long museum closings caused by the COVID-19 virus. Other popular tourist sites include the Gothic royal chapel of Sainte-Chapelle, also on the Île de la Cité; the Eiffel Tower, constructed for the Paris Universal Exposition of 1889; the Grand Palais and Petit Palais, built for the Paris Universal Exposition of 1900; the Arc de Triomphe on the ChampsÉlysées, and the hill of Montmartre with its artistic history and its Basilica of Sacré-Coeur..
