MARKET ANALYSIS

In 2020, it was projected that the market for dental services would be valued at USD 302.7 billion, and from 2021 to 2028, it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 6.4%. The diagnosis, prevention, and treatment of dental issues are among the dental services provided by dentists and other dental specialists. Some of the main factors propelling the market's growth include the rising frequency of dental caries and other periodontal problems, technological developments in dentistry, and the significant demand for cosmetic and laser dentistry. The ongoing COVID-19 outbreak has had a significant negative influence on the economy of dental care. Due to the strict social distance standards put in place, dental offices were closed in a number of countries.

The dental clinic category dominated the market in 2020 with a revenue share of more than 65.0%. This market category is predicted to develop at the fastest rate between 2021 and 2028. The majority of dental customers visit private practice dental clinics since there are specialists there. Most dental offices—more than 80%—are run by owners. The number of independent practices is rising on a global scale. This pattern is likely to persist in the years to come because it is economical, professionals are easily accessible, and cutting-edge technology is used.

A market size forecast for seven major currencies is included in the paper. Market sizing forecasts are given for 7 main currencies in the report: USD, EUR, JPY, GBP, AUD, CAD, and CHF. When currency exchange data is easily accessible, decision-making by company executives is improved. The years 2019 and 2020 are regarded as historical years in this study, while the years 2021 and 2022 are regarded as the base year and the estimated year, respectively. The years 2023 and 2027 are regarded as the forecast period.

ABOUT VENUE

Amsterdam is a beautiful city and capital of The Netherlands that has wide range of attractions such as Van Gogh Museum, Classic Boat Cruise, Keukenhof Gardens,Rijksmuseum, Heineken brewery and still more. Naturally, a brief Internet search showed that there are several things to do in and around this incredibly well-known European location. But, we only had a couple of days to see as much as we could in Amsterdam while also trying to keep our trip on a tight budget. We were able to keep within our budget and explore more than we had anticipated thanks to the I Amsterdam City Card. We are pleased to report that, despite the fact that this schedule required some museum hopping and even a day trip to the nearby countryside, we were still able to spend some time in the city. Amsterdam has a lot to offer, and it deserves a lot more of our time. But we think we've spent enough time exploring its different neighbourhoods and getting to know its kind residents to state with certainty that it's one of our favourite locations.
