About Venue

Paris is the capital and most populous city of France, with an estimated population of 2,175,601 residents as of 2018, in an area of more than 105 square kilometers (41 square miles). Since the 17th century, Paris has been one of Europe's major centres of finance, diplomacy, commerce, fashion, gastronomy, science, and arts. The City of Paris is the centre and seat of the government of the region and province of Île-de-France, or Paris Region, which has an estimated populace of 12,174,880, or almost 18 percent of the populace of France as of 2017. The Paris Locale had a GDP of €709 billion ($808 billion) in 2017. Agreeing to the Economist Insights Unit Around the world Cost of Living Survey in 2018, Paris was the moment most costly city in the world, after Singapore and ahead of Zürich, Hong Kong, Oslo and Geneva. Another source positioned Paris as most costly, on a standard with Singapore and Hong Kong, in 2018.

Research and development:

France's gross domestic expenditure on research and development has doubled since 1982 and accounted for 2.23% of GDP (€46.5 billion) in 2012. Businesses alone implemented 65% of R&D expenditure and funded 59% of gross national expenditure on R&D.

Tourism and Conference:

Tourism in France directly contributed 79.8 billion euros to gross domestic product (GDP) in 2013, 30% of which comes from international visitors and 70% from domestic tourism spending. The total contribution of travel and tourism represents 9.7% of GDP and supports 2.9 million jobs (10.9% of employment) in the country. Tourism contributes significantly to the balance of payments.

France was visited by 89 million total foreign tourists in 2018, the most of any country in the world. This statistic has been rejected by Ritals, which reports in one of their videos that France is counting the number of nights spent in the country more than number of number of arrivals since there is no official definition on which figure to declare; in addition Ritals proposed the thesis that official country statistics also count tourists visiting Paris and Disneyland Paris twice. In fact, it is only in third place, and not in first place, in the income produced by tourism due to shorter visits and nights spent which drop to 137 million, placing France in fifth place of the countries most visited by non-residents, behind the States United States, Spain, Italy, the United Kingdom and China. More than 20% of tourists have in fact spent less than half of what they did in United States of America. France has 45 sites inscribed in the UNESCO's World Heritage List and features cities or sites of high cultural interest (Paris being the foremost, but also Loire Valley, Toulouse, Strasbourg, Bordeaux, Lyon and others), beaches and seaside resorts, ski resorts, as well as rural regions that many enjoy for their beauty and tranquillity (green tourism). Small and picturesque French villages of quality heritage (such as Collonges-la-Rouge, Locronan, or Montsoreau) are promoted through the association Les Plus Beaux Villages de France (literally "The Most Beautiful Villages of France"). The "Remarkable Gardens" label is a list of the over two hundred gardens classified by the Ministry of Culture. This label is intended to protect and promote remarkable gardens and parks
