ABOUT VENUE

Dubai, which sprung from the Arabian desert, is a city full of ambition, with mega malls, some of the world's tallest structures, and the largest man-made islands! Dubai is the best place to visit if you want to enjoy clear skies and picture-perfect beach weather. Here are the compelling reasons to visit this amazing location if you haven't already.

Dubai has the most impressive skyline in the world

You're never too far away from a magnificent perspective, whether you're downtown at the Burj Khalifa, the largest man-made structure on earth, or down at the Marina, where four of the five tallest residential buildings in the world are located.

Climb the tallest building in the world

More towers than you can count can be found here The Burj Khalifa is the highest of the supertall buildings in Dubai, which is famed for its super constructions. The world's tallest free-standing edifice, at 2,722 feet (828 metres), is almost twice as tall as New York's Empire State building. With 163 floors, it is obvious that the view from the observation decks will be worth the admission price.

Be entertained by the Mega Malls

Dubai is known for its "mega malls," and among the unique centres to visit is the Dubai Mall, the largest retail centre in the world. To indulge in retail therapy and enjoy the attractions housed within the shopping centres, people travel from near and far. Dubai hosts a month-long shopping extravaganza in January that includes concerts and contests where participants may win prizes like cars and gold.

You can go skiing in the desert

Yes, you did read that right. In the middle of the Arabian Desert, Dubai has a ski resort. The world's first 400-metre long indoor black run can be found at the 85-metre high, 22,500 square metre indoor ski resort.
