About City and Venue

Paris, France's capital is situated in the country's north-central region. People lived on the new city site, which is located along the Seine River about 233 miles (375 kilometres) upstream from the river's mouth on the English Channel, by about 7600 BCE. Starting on the island, the new city has expanded well beyond both banks of the Seine. It's no surprise that Paris is one of France's best and most popular tourist destinations. This one-of-a-kind city manages to retain a remarkable and lovely balance of modern cosmopolitan life and peaceful village life. Aside from having breathtaking architecture, Paris is also a trade district. In addition, there are new art exhibits in Paris, as well as the city's history and literature.

When it comes to attractive explanations, it does not disappoint. It is the city of passion, the city of light, and the fashion capital of the world. Paris is a very large economic city that contributes significantly to global GDP. With a GDP of (731.3 billion US dollars), Paris is one of Europe's largest and most strong economies.

Paris is a city full of life and beauty with world-famous attractions. The wavy streets are lively, and travellers are drawn to it because of its central location on the global stage. The Eiffel Tower, Notre Dame Cathedral, and the Louvre Museum are only a few of the key attractions that come to mind when we think of Paris.
