MARKET ANALYSIS

The market for pediatric neurology, which was valued at $2.8 billion in 2021, is anticipated to increase to $5.8 billion by 2031, rising at a CAGR of 7.8% between 2022 and 2031. A specialist area of medicine called pediatric neurology is concerned with the diagnosis and treatment of neurological problems in neonates (newborns), infants, kids, and teenagers. There is a broad spectrum of neurological illnesses, and they might have different causes, consequences, symptoms, and outcomes.

Due to the COVID-19 predicament, which prevented pediatric patients from traveling to a hospital for any type of invasive operation to assess the patient's neurological damage, the COVID-19 pandemic had a detrimental effect on the pediatric neurology devices sector. As a result, the pediatric neurological patients' parents were instructed to delay the patients' therapy.
