Market Analysis

Primary Care 2020 welcomes all the attendees, presenters and exhibitors from all over the world to Dubai, UAE. We are happy to invite you all to attend for the "International Conference on Primary Care" which is going to be held during December 03-04, 2020 at Dubai, UAE.

Summary of Primary Care-2020 Conference:

The organizing committee is planning for informative conference event including plenary lectures, symposia, workshops, video presentations and poster presentations for participants from all over the world. We invite you to join us at Primary Care 2020, where you will be sure to have a meaningful experience with scholars from around the world. All members of the Primary Care 2020 organizing committee look forward to meeting you in Dubai, UAE.

Primary Care 2020 aims to discover advances in health practice, management and education in relation to health disparities as well as a breadth of other topics. According to the reports, the healthcare services market in the GCC is expected to grow from US $18 billion in 2008 to US $47-55 billion by 2020. The need for hospital beds across the GCC is expected to rise, with the Japan registering at 160% by 2025. By 2050, the GCC will need a total of 138,965 hospital beds, 140,334 physicians and 227,079 nurses to keep present care stages. The GCC may require in excess of 25,000 additional beds in 2020. With two physicians per 1,000 population, the GCC countries remain above the global health care average ratio of 1.3, but below the US and Europe, which are at 2.6 and 3.2 respectively.

Members Associated with Primary Care:

Primary care is the connection between Public Health and care for the individual. These demands have not only improved in volume but also in complication. Local governments essential information, support and capability on how to attain practical results for these major challenges. The Community Oriented and Integrated Primary Care is a method that matches very well to challenge most of the problems. Moreover, focus on health problems needs an intersectoral method at the local stage, integrating health and welfare sectors.

Industries associated with Primary Care:

The Primary Care industry is an collection of various sectors with the economic system that distribute goods and services to take care of patients with therapeutic, protective, rehabilitative and anaesthetic care. The modern primary care industry is divided into many segments and varies on interdisciplinary groups of trained specialists to meet health care need of people populations. The primary care production is one of the largest and quickest-growing industries.

PULSUS

Market value, Growth and Source of Funds

Increasing market sector is demanding impulsive access to primary care services without care of pre-existing clinician association. This population sector has risen to a new set of "on demand" primary care delivery channels. These delivery channels have powerful growth plans from 6.5 % to 34 % annual threat for the traditional primary care providers and the health systems.

As per evaluations, the healthcare market is expected to grow at 12.0 % p.a. to US $ 69.4 billion from an estimated US$ 39.4 billion. Outpatient and inpatient markets are 79% and 21% of the overall market size respectively.

The IMF estimates that the area‘s population would cross the 50 million by 2020, offering energy to the use of primary care services. Growing income levels and inactive routines have led to a higher occurrence of obesity and diabetes leading to a need for specified primary care services. GCC population expected in the age group of 65 and above to rise from 1.2 million in 2015 to 14.2 million in 2050, making demand for primary care services. As development in the region ‘s coverage premium overtakes the growth in the worldwide market, the insurance access remains one of the lowest possible in the globe.
