Market Analysis

PULSUS
WWW.PULSUSCONFERENCE.COM

The global rheumatoid arthritis drugs/therapeutics market size was valued at USD 20.3 billion in 2016. The market is anticipated to expand at a CAGR of 4.6% over the forecast period. Increasing prevalence of arthritis, growing acceptance of biopharmaceuticals, and presence of well-defined regulatory guidelines in developed economies are among key trends expected to trigger market growth. Growing patient awareness regarding rheumatic disorders and influx of new biopharmaceuticals in the global arena are projected to rev up adoption of rheumatoid arthritis (RA) therapeutics. In 2013, approximately 52.2 million adults suffered from arthritis in U.S. alone. Most patients who have been treated with Disease-Modifying Antirheumatic Drugs (DMARDs) remain unsatisfied due to poor therapeutic benefits. For this patient group, a combination of biologics and DMARDs is likely to deliver higher therapeutic benefits. Thus, the rheumatoid arthritis market is witnessing a shift toward combination therapies that provide enhanced results to patients. Rise in penetration of combination of DMARDs and biologics will boost market revenue in coming years.
