MARKET ANALYSIS

Everywhere, the COVID-19 pandemic is a setback for sustainable development. The global average SDG Index score for 2020 is lower than it was in 2019 for the first time since the SDGs were adopted in 2015.

The SDG financing gap has grown as a result of COVID-19. The International Monetary Fund (IMF) projects that additional spending needs will amount to about 14 percent of GDP for each year up until 2029, which is about 21 percent more than was anticipated in 2019 due to the severe economic setbacks brought on by the pandemic and the two-year delay in putting SDG investments into action.

The adoption of digital technologies and services has been hastened by the pandemic. In order to enhance access to services and as tools for a global digital economy, universal access to digital infrastructure and broadband connection have emerged as absolute needs.
