The United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, normally known as the United Kingdom (UK) and informally Great Britain (GB) or basically Britain, is a sovereign nation in western Europe. The UK has a mostly controlled market economy. In view of market trade rates, the UK is today the fifth-biggest economy on the planet and the second-biggest in Europe after Germany. HM Treasury, drove by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, is in charge of creating and executing the administration's open fund strategy and monetary approach. The Bank of England is the UK's national bank and is in charge of issuing notes and coins in the country's cash, the pound sterling. Banks in Scotland and Northern Ireland hold the privilege to issue their own notes, subject to holding enough Bank of England notes for possible later use to cover their issue. The pound sterling is the world's third-biggest hold money (after the US dollar and the euro).
