Welcome Message

Neuropharmacology discipline is one of the fundamental aspects of drug discovery and therapy for neurological diseases of diverse origin e.g., from psychological, traumatic to neurodegenerative diseases. Thus, an International Meeting Organized by Conference Series LLC will help develop novel aspects of drug development and future therapeutic strategies for treating neurological diseases that are the need of the hour for clinicians, policy makers, researchers and students alike.

I hope this 3-days scientific discussion and presentations by leading experts in the World as well as new research carried out by young scientist will provide a perfect amalgam for novel drug discovery in both basic and clinical research. The outcome of the congress will pave ways to new developments for drug therapy and raises hope in the victims of neurological disease Worldwide. I am sure that the delegates, experts, students, researchers, Pharma industries, policy makers and healthcare givers will all tremendously benefit from the deliberation of this congress in a warm and friendly environment. Take a deep dive into the newest technologies made in the field with the edifying talks of our Speakers which will help in broadening your horizons.

Network with great People at the beautiful backdrop of San Antonio Genetic Toxicology deals with the study of effects of the different physical and chemical agents on the genetic material. It also studies the probable reasons for the DNA damage in the living cells which is the root cause of Cancer Initiation. Several other aspects like the heritable mutations, mutagenesis, carcinogenesis etc., can also be read by applying the genetic toxicology principles.

Genetic Toxicology concepts play a very trivial role in several stages of drug discovery and development. It is also used in assessment and analysis of carcinogenicity with the help of multifarious testing techniques available. With a wide scope of applications of this emerging field, we confederate the testing technique experts, genetic experts, gene designers and other pioneers related to the science and technology of Genetic Toxicology to Discuss the Gene

With a broad spectrum of topics to be covered in the conference with several Key note Sessions, Plenary and Oral Talks, Workshops and Symposia and Poster Presentations Genetic Toxicology 2017 offers its participants an exposure to world class research works.
