MARKET ANALYSIS

The nursing care facilities industry is fast-growing, but must simultaneously manage multiple competing cost concerns. With rising health care costs, hospitals are keen to discharge patients sooner, resulting in individuals requiring care for longer periods of time with more intensive care. As a result, the cost of running a nursing care facility continues to climb. Patients may select new lower-priced in-home medical technologies or to be admitted to nursing care facilities.

The Healthcare market is estimated at $4,430.9 million in 2013 and is expected to reach $21,346.4 million by 2020, growing at a CAGR of 25.2% from 2013 to 2020. A report from The Business Research Company shows that the global nursing care market size is expected to grow at an annual rate of around 9% to nearly $1 trillion by 2022.

The global nursing care market is highly fragmented. The top 10 competitors within the international nursing care market created up 3.1% of the whole market in 2018. The global aid services market, of that the medical care market may be a section, reached a price of nearly $6707.3 billion in 2018, having grown at 7.6% since 2014. It will grow at a compound annual rate (CAGR) of 9.3% to almost $9581 billion by 2022. The medical care market was the third largest section within the international health care services market in 2018, accounting for 12.8% of the healthcare services market. The Medical Centres and clinic market was the largest section of the help services Industry, accounting for 55.1% of the total, worth $3693.4 billion globally, and has grown at a CAGR of 8.2% during the historic period. It is expected to grow at a CAGR of 9.9% throughout the forecast amount.

ABOUT VENUE

Edinburgh is Scotland's second most populous city and the seventh most populous in the United Kingdom. It lies at the heart of the Edinburgh and South East Scotland city region comprising East Lothian, Edinburgh, Fife, Midlothian, Scottish Borders and West Lothian. It is a city like no other. A capital city where old meets new in a seamless blend of architectural splendour, romance and inspirational history. A connected city with a global outlook, Scotland's capital is a must visit destination for visitors from all over the world.

It is the second largest financial centre in the United Kingdom. The city has long been a centre of education, particularly in the fields of medicine.

The city is also famous for the Edinburgh International Festival and the Fringe, the latter being the world's largest annual international arts festival.

It is a renowned centre of excellence in sectors like life sciences, energy, technology, education, finance and the creative industries.

Edinburgh's famed year-round festivals programme helps to attract more than 4m visitors each year, and collectively they make a huge contribution to the quality of life, international reputation and economic vitality of Edinburgh and Scotland.

Edinburgh's reputation as a 'must visit' city means it has among highest levels of hotel occupancy and RevPAR figures in Europe. International hotel brands continue to invest in the city, growing portfolios or enhancing their existing offer.
