SEXUALITY IN A PATIENT WITH HOSPITALIZED BREAST CANCER IN THE NURSING PROFESSIONAL

Lilian Cristina Clemente dos Santos Organist

SUMMARY

The study aims to investigate the sexuality aspects of women with cancer
Of hospitalized breast. The appearance of the study occurred at the time of my practice
Where I came across dialogues of patients, companions and professionals
With women's behavior at different times,
Sexuality and counterpart the assisting professionals, who repressed such an attitude
The most "upset" patients. I realized the need to discuss such Questions: Women who are hospitalized for treatment that theoretically With biopsychosocial, self-image and self-esteem, should have "head for such behavior? The nurse's need to direct a group to sexuality. Aiming to analyze the psychophysical need, using the Jean Watson's philosophical approach. Methodology the study presents as a Review and synthesis of the literature on nursing need sexual theory.
Final considerations nurses have the fundamental role of facilitating the communication of the Sexuality, so as not to make it fragmented, to emphasize the importance of the partner's role
-sexual. Thus providing discussions related to sexual health.
Keywords: Sexuality, Women's Health, Breast Cancer, Practice of Nursing.