How to move Qi-energy in classical acupuncture (with live-treatments)

The Qi can be blocked:

1. blocked in organs:
The classical therapy is to treat the He-point of the organ with acupuncture or laser (best with the selfheal frequency of 4.625 Hz or the frequency of the gate for life 4.112 Hz) - livedemonstrations.

2. blocked in meridians (no more Qi-flow):
Tue classical therapy is to treat the tonification-point of the meridian with acupuncture or laser (best with one of the 12 meridian-frequencies of Reininger/Bahr - livedemonstrations.

3. blocked in the extraordinary vessels like Dumai, Renmai and others (no more Qi-flow):
The classical therapy is to treat the cardinal-point of the extraordinary vessel with acupuncture or laser (best with one of the 8 frequencies for cardinalpoints of Bahr - livedemonstrations.

4. blocked in the whole organism (slow Qi-flow):
The therapy is to treat the master-point of Qi on the hand with acupuncture or laser (best with the direct Qi-frequency of 7.695 Hz - livedemonstrations.

There will follow a workshop: Live Practical Treatments on Patients with problems of blocked Qi

Acupuncture-points and frequencies in pain and allergies & the self-healing-frequency for regeneration

1. Pain-treatment:
- local points: following the meridian, which is in the pathway of the pain one can normally find one point to tonify and another point to sedate on the same meridian

- master points against pain: Large intestin 4, Gallbladder 41, Liver 3, Small intestin 3, Stomach 36 have to be checked.
- low energy points: cardinal points like Gallbladder 3 <-> 3Warmer 5, Small intestine 3 <-> Bladder 62 and/or Dumai 4 <-> Renmai 4
- points of psychosomatic disturbance like Kidney 6, Renmai 17, Lung 7, Stomach 36 and others.

2. Allergy-treatment:
The most important anti-allergic point is the cortisolpoint 3Warmer 3 best together with the 3Warmer 22. Very important is also the anti-histamminpoint Bladder 40. As cardinalpoint the 3Warmer 5 has to be treated as well. Besides all that one has to look, if a focus is active as therapy-hindrance.

3a. Regeneration of organs:
The laser-frequency we use most is the frequency of regeneration of 4.625 Hz and the points against the basic weakness of organs, which usually can be found with that frequency.

There will follow a workshop: Live Practical Treatments on Patients with acupuncture against pain and also against allergies

From Theory to Practice in Laser Acupuncture and Medicine: The Most Important Frequencies in Diagnostics and Treatments

A: Why we need Lasers in Acupuncture?
Acupuncture itself makes energetic stimulation, so why we need lasers?
Explanation: Acupuncture does not bring new = fresh energy into the organism (except the little warm/hot energy through moxibustion of an acupuncture point) and the energetic effects of acupuncture are intended to work against the stagnation of Qi and harmonize the YIN-Qi and YANG-Qi of an organ or meridian.
But for new = fresh energy we need the laser!
The main reason for the effect of laser-radiation is the coherence of the laser-beam compared to uncoordinated photons of normal light. The coherent laserbeam gives the energy-gain of the laserphoton to the normal light-photon (from the higher level of energy to the lower level according to the quantum leap). In the mitochondrias they arrive at the special receptor for photons.

B: The most important frequencies to link the laser-beam to biological systems.

How our organism reacts, when different frequencies are applied? Are frequencies necessary or is cw= continuous wave as efficient? Let us have a look about biological perception:

- Optical perceptible resonances like the emotional stimulating colours of the sun going down – compare this to the theory of colours (Goethe 1810)
- Acoustically perceptible resonances like the „Om"-singing of Buddhists (frequency is 136,10 Hz) as very agreable frequency - but on the other hand there are „pesky" noises.
- Olfactoric perceptible resonances like the smell of flowers, perfume and so on
- Vibrational perceptions / impulse-frequencies during massage (for example chinese massage TUINA)
- and others

There will follow a workshop: Live Practical Treatments on Patients with different frequencies in acupuncture
