INVITATION

Dear Attendees,

WThe Aging & Gerontology 2023 is concerned with social complements and counteraccusations of aging, cellular & molecular form of age- associated detriment as the premise of treatment options to deliver ageing under control. Aging & Gerontology 2023 purpose is to fete age- associated conditions and disabilities, and to suggest new perceptivity.

Theme: Innovations for a Better Aging Care Management

Aging & Gerontology 2023 aims to bring together leading academic scientists, experimenters and exploration scholars to change and partake their guests and exploration results about all aspects of Aging and Senior Drug. It also provides the premier interdisciplinary forum for experimenters, interpreters and preceptors to present and bandy the most recent inventions, trends, and enterprises, practical challenges encountered and the results espoused in the field of Aging and Geriatric Medicine. The Ultimate thing of the conference is to help the medical professionals in the senior field as well as general public to understand, empathize and take prompt conduct to help old people across the globe.

The global peak creates a multi-disciplinary forum for discussion and analysis in order to completely comprehend global, indigenous, and original trends around the world. The conference tries to put together an instigative scientific programme concentrated on Aging and Geriatric Medicine.

We look forward to personally welcoming you to our conference!

Sincerely,
AGEING 2023
Organizing Committee

ABOUT VENUE

ROME, ITALY

Rome, Italian Roma, historic city and capital of Roma provincia (province), of Lazio regione (region), and of the country of Italy. Rome is located in the central portion of the Italian peninsula, on the Tiber River about 15 miles (24 km) inland from the Tyrrhenian Sea. Once the capital of an ancient republic and empire whose armies and polity defined the Western world in antiquity and left seemingly indelible imprints thereafter, the spiritual and physical seat of the Roman Catholic Church, and the site of major pinnacles of artistic and intellectual achievement, Rome is the Eternal City, remaining today a political capital, a religious centre, and a memorial to the creative imagination of the past. Area city, 496 square miles (1,285 square km).

For well over a millennium, Rome controlled the destiny of all civilization known to Europe, but then it fell into dissolution and disrepair. Physically mutilated, economically paralyzed, politically senile, and militarily impotent by the late Middle Ages, Rome nevertheless remained a world power—as an idea. The force of Rome the lawgiver, teacher, and builder continued to radiate throughout Europe. Although the situation of the popes from the 6th to the 15th century was often precarious, Rome knew glory as the fountainhead of Christianity and eventually won back its power and wealth and re-established itself as a place of beauty, a source of learning, and a capital of the arts.

Rome's contemporary history reflects the long-standing tension between the spiritual power of the papacy and the political power of the Italian state capital. Rome was the last city-state to become part of a unified Italy, and it did so only under duress, after the invasion of Italian troops in 1870. The pope took refuge in the Vatican thereafter. Rome was made the capital of Italy (not without protests from Florence, which had been the capital since 1865), and the new state filled the city with ministries and barracks. Yet the Catholic church continued to reject Italian authority until a compromise was reached with Fascist dictator Benito Mussolini in 1929, when both Italy and Vatican City recognized the sovereignty of the other. Mussolini, meanwhile, created a cult of personality that challenged that of the pope himself, and his Fascist Party tried to re-create the glories of Rome's imperial past through a massive public works program.
