Plan Your Trip to Beijing

About Beijing

Beijing is the capital of the People's Republic of China and the world's third most populous city proper. The city, located in northern China, is governed as a direct-controlled municipality under the national government with 16 urban, suburban, and rural districts. A city combining both modern and traditional architecture. Beijing is an ever-changing megacity rich in history but also truly modern, exemplified in its extraordinary global influence in politics, business & economy, education, history, culture, language, music, sporting, architecture, civilization, fashion, art, entertainment, innovation and technology. Beijing is the second largest Chinese city by urban population after Shanghai and is the nation's political, cultural, and educational centre. And is a major hub for the national highway, expressway, railway, and high-speed rail networks. The Beijing Capital International Airport has been the second busiest in the world by passenger traffic since 2010, and, as of 2016, the city's subway network is the busiest and second longest in the world, after Shanghai's subway system.

Beijing offers a kaleidoscope of attractions for visitors. It has a wide variety of sceneries to experience. Tourists can experience everything from Forbidden city, Tiananmen Square, Great Wall, Summer Palace, Temple of Heaven, Ming Tombs, Hutong Tour, Lama Temple, Beihai Park, Capital Museum, Beijing is unarguably one of the most visited places in the world. Every year finds millions of people come to Beijing to see the capital of China, a fast changing metropolitan city of old and new. Beijing is a sleepless city, so you can easily find something for you at any time for whatever you like.
