ALZHEIMER'S SUMMIT 2018

Boston is the capital city and most crowded region of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in the United States. The city legitimate spreads 48 square miles (124 km2) with an expected populace of 673,184 in 2016, making it the biggest city in the New England district of the north-eastern United States. The city is the economic and cultural anchor of a substantially larger metropolitan area known as Greater Boston, a metropolitan statistical area (MSA) home to a census-estimated 4.8 million people in 2016 and ranking as the tenth-largest such area in the country.

Boston is one of the most seasoned urban areas in the United States, established on the Shawmut Peninsula in 1630 by Puritan pilgrims from England. It was the scene of several key events of the American Revolution, such as the Boston Massacre, the Boston Tea Party, the Battle of Bunker Hill, and the Siege of Boston. Upon U.S. independence from Great Britain, it continued to be an important port and manufacturing hub as well as a Centre for education and culture.

Its rich history pulls in numerous vacationers, with Faneuil Hall alone illustration more than 20 million visitors for every year. Boston's numerous firsts incorporate the United States' first government funded school (Boston Latin School, 1635), first metro framework (Tremont Street Subway, 1897), and first public park (Boston Common, 1634).

Perhaps no other city in America holds as much history of the colonial and Revolutionary War era as Boston. It's not surprising then that its main sites have become a pilgrimage trail for Americans and for others who hope to get a sense of that history. But more than that, the Freedom Trail is a good introduction to today's city, connecting or passing close to some of its best loved tourist attractions. Boston is easy to navigate on foot, as its major sights are relatively close, and America's first subway system, the T, connects its important neighborhoods.

Beyond excelling in academics, enjoy the time you have abroad. Spend some time sightseeing, visiting nearby cities (a big bonus in Boston, since New York is right next door)!
