About City

Tourists Attractions

Vancouver is known around the world as both a popular tourist attraction and one of the best places to live. Vancouver is also one of the most ethnically and linguistically diverse cities in Canada with 52 percent of the population speaking a first language other than English. Vancouver has hosted many international conferences and events, including the 2010 Winter Olympics and 2010 Winter Paralympics. Vancouver is a coastal seaport city in Canada, located in the Lower Mainland region of British Columbia. The Greater Vancouver area had a population of 2,463,431 in 2016, making it the third-largest metropolitan area in Canada. Vancouver is consistently named as one of the top five worldwide cities for livability and quality of life, and the Economist Intelligence Unit acknowledged it as the first city ranked among the top-ten of the world's most well-living cities for five consecutive years. Social movements, such as the first-wave feminist, moral reform, and temperance movements were also instrumental in Vancouver's development. Mary Ellen Smith, a Vancouver suffragist and prohibitionist, became the first woman elected to a provincial legislature in Canada. Vancouver is home to many vibrant and interesting areas. Here are a few to start you on your exploration of the city are : Chinatown, Coal Harbour, Commercial Drive, Davie Village, Gastown, Granville Island, Granville Street, Kitsilano, Punjabi Market, Robson Street, South Granville, South Main, West End, Yaletown. The food in Vancouver is excellent, you might find you return home a little thinner than you left. Why? Because Vancouver is such a walkable city, you'll find yourself clocking a surprising number of miles as you stroll between attractions, dining, shopping and diverse neighbourhoods! The city's downtown core is compact, measuring just 2 km (1.2 miles) across at the widest point.
