About the conference

Join us at the 9th World Conference on Applied Microbiology and Beneficial Microbes, taking place on October 21-22, 2024, in London, UK. This leading international platform gathers experts, researchers, and enthusiasts to explore advancements in applied microbiology. Dedicated to the impactful realm of applied microbiology, our conference highlights its significance across healthcare, agriculture, environmental preservation, and biotechnology. With a history of successful editions, we aim to foster the exchange of knowledge and innovation within beneficial microbes

Theme: "The Latest & Future Developments in Applied Microbiology are explored"

Why to attend the conference

Networking: Connect with peers, experts, and industry leaders.

Knowledge Exchange: Engage in thought-provoking discussions and interactive sessions.

Innovation Showcase: Discover emerging technologies and research findings.

Career Enhancement: Stay updated on breakthroughs and connect with potential employers or partners.
