About Rome

Rome, the capital of Italy, is one of the most historic and culturally significant cities in the world, making it an outstanding destination for international conferences and academic gatherings. Often referred to as the “Eternal City,” Rome beautifully blends ancient heritage with modern urban life. The city is home to remarkable landmarks such as the Colosseum, the Roman Forum, and the breathtaking Trevi Fountain, each reflecting the grandeur of the ancient Roman civilization. Visitors can also explore the artistic treasures of Vatican City, including world-famous museums and historic architecture.

Beyond its rich history, Rome offers modern infrastructure, excellent conference venues, and world-class hospitality services that make it ideal for hosting global scientific events. The city is well connected through Leonardo da Vinci–Fiumicino Airport, providing convenient access for international travelers. Participants can also enjoy authentic Italian cuisine, vibrant cafés, and charming streets that showcase the city’s unique character. With its inspiring cultural heritage and dynamic environment, Rome provides a memorable setting for networking, collaboration, and academic exchange.
