WELCOME ADDRESS

Dear Attendees,

The Global Warming 2024 Organizing Committee is absolutely delighted to welcome you to the 12th International Summit on Global Warming and Environmental Science which will be held in Sao Paulo, Brazil on May 21-22, 2024, where we will be shining a spotlight on "Significant Causes, Effects and possible solutions to Global Warming in a Diverse Environment".

We are looking forward to providing you with a superb environment in which to present, discuss and advance your Global Warming research. The world class scientific programme will consolidate existing knowledge while at the same time increase your awareness of leading edge and forward looking advances in the field.

The congress is to be held in one of the world's most important global cities named as Sao Paulo. It exerts considerable influence on the arts, commerce, education, entertainment, fashion, finance, healthcare, media, professional services, research and development, tourism, and transportation. What better place to combine leading edge science with an unsurpassed personal experience.

We look forward to seeing/welcoming you in 2024 for an experience of a lifetime.

With Regards
Global Warming 2024

ABOUT SAO PAULO

Brazil, country of South America that occupies half the continent's landmass. It is the fifth largest country in the world, exceeded in size only by Russia, Canada, China, and the United States, though its area is greater than that of the 48 conterminous U.S. states. Brazil faces the Atlantic Ocean along 4,600 miles (7,400 km) of coastline and shares more than 9,750 miles (15,700 km) of inland borders with every South American country except Chile and Ecuador—specifically, Uruguay to the south; Argentina, Paraguay, and Bolivia to the southwest; Peru to the west; Colombia to the northwest; and Venezuela, Guyana, Suriname, and French Guiana to the north. Brazil stretches roughly 2,700 miles (4,350 km) from north to south and from east to west to form a vast irregular triangle that encompasses a wide range of tropical and subtropical landscapes, including wetlands, savannas, plateaus, and low mountains. Brazil contains most of the Amazon River basin, which has the world's largest river system and the world's most-extensive virgin rainforest. The country contains no desert, high-mountain, or arctic environments.

Brazil is the fifth most-populous country on Earth and accounts for one-third of Latin America's population. Most of the inhabitants of Brazil are concentrated along the eastern seaboard, although its capital, Brasília, is located far inland and increasing numbers of migrants are moving to the interior. Rio de Janeiro, in the eyes of many of the world, continues to be the preeminent icon of Brazil. The nation's burgeoning cities, huge hydroelectric and industrial complexes, mines, and fertile farmlands make it one of the world's major economies. However, Brazil struggles with extreme social inequalities, environmental degradation, intermittent financial crises, and a sometimes deadlocked political system.
