About Conference:

Conference Series proudly presents the "16th International Conference on Human Genetics and Genetic Diseases", to be held on June 18-19, 2026, in Singapore City, Singapore. This prestigious global event will unite researchers, scientists, academicians, healthcare professionals, and industry experts to discuss the latest discoveries, trends, and innovations shaping the future of human genetics. Centered on the theme "Redefining Medicine through Genomic Science", the conference aims to foster collaboration, knowledge exchange, and innovation in understanding the genetic foundations of human health and disease.

The program will feature keynote talks, oral and poster presentations, panel discussions, workshops, exhibitions, and interactive sessions, providing a platform for meaningful dialogue and networking.

Major topics include Human Molecular Genetics, Genomics, Translational Genetics, Genetic Disorders, Gene Editing, Bioinformatics, Clinical Genetics, Cancer Genetics, Genetic Counseling, and other emerging fields driving modern biomedical research. By bringing together experts from academia, research institutions, and industry, this conference seeks to advance scientific collaboration and explore the transformative role of genetics in precision medicine, healthcare, and personalized therapies. Join us in London to share insights, exchange ideas, and be part of the global effort to bridge the gap between genes and human health.

GLIMPSES OF PAST EVENTS

Speakers Word

Yaeko Mitsumori, Osaka University, Japan

I was impressed by you and other staff's perfect organization of the conference. All the participants' presentations were very interesting and very informative. I would be glad if I have a chance to work with you again in the future.

Lequan Min, University of Science and Technology Beijing, China

I am very happy to attend 4th International Conference on Infection Prevention and Control held from November 06-07, 2023. You and the Coalesce staff organized the Conference is very excellent. That you have provided participations, accommodation are also very excellent. I am impressed by the speaker's presentations.

Fatah Kashanchi, George Mason University, USA

That was a fun meeting. I was also impressed with the talks. Lots of clinical and diagnostic data.

Estephanie Padua, Sheikh Khalifa Specialty Hospital, UAE

As an infection control nurse working in hospital, it gave me insights and information that I can use in outbreak management a protocol and policy creation that is based on scientific evidence.

Pavani Maria Budda, Gandhi Institution of Medical Sciences and Research, India

Excellent ambience and organization of conference and great speakers and content. I am glad to be with all the delegates to have a very good experience.
