About Valencia

Valencia is the third largest city of Spain with a global city status. Valencia was the 29th fastest improving European city. Its influence in commerce, education, entertainment, media, fashion, science and the arts contributes to its status as one of the world's "Gamma"-rank global cities.

The port city of Valencia is on Spain's southeastern Orange Blossom Coast, where the Turia River meets the Mediterranean Sea. It's known for its City of Arts and Sciences, with futuristic structures including a planetarium, an oceanarium and an interactive museum. Valencia also has several beaches, including some within nearby Albufera Park, a wetlands reserve with a lake, walking trails and bird-watching.

Valencia is a place where medical institutions, hospitals and clinical research organizations are situated. Therefore it would be a very great place which supports the conference and helps in advancing clinical knowledge and treatment therapy.
