WELCOME ADDRESS

Dear Attendees,

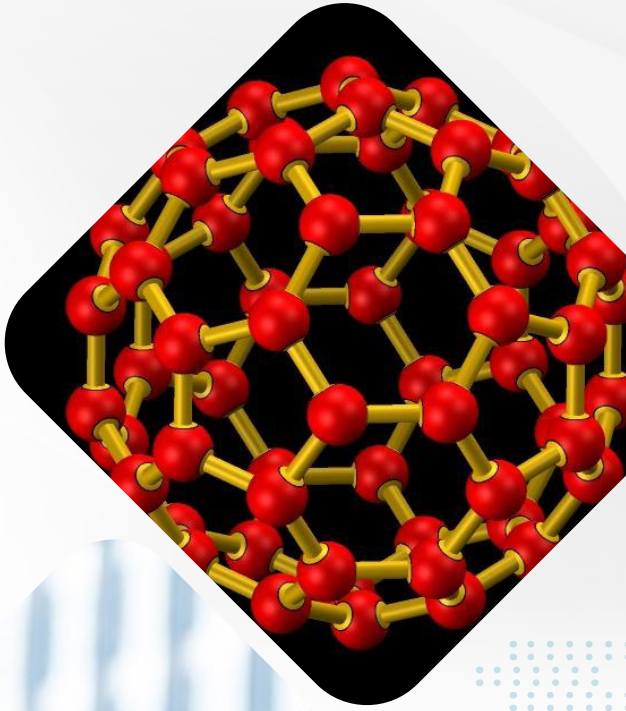

The Nanomaterials 2024 Organizing Committee is absolutely delighted to welcome you to the 37th International Conference on Nanomaterials and Nanotechnology which will be held in Rome, Italy on February 15-16, 2024 where we will be shining a spotlight on "Nanomaterials for Sustainable Development: Innovations and Applications".

We are looking forward to providing you with a superb environment in which to present, discuss and advance your Nanotechnology research. The world class scientific programme will consolidate existing knowledge while at the same time increase your awareness of leading edge and forward looking advances in the field.

The congress is to be held in one of the world's most important global cities Rome is as much a city of fountains as it is of churches or palaces, antiquities or urban problems. The more than 300 monumental fountains are an essential part of Rome's seductive powers. Part of the everyday yet part of the daily surprise, they are points of personal, often sentimental attachment to the city. Every fountain has its history, and many have legends, the best known of which guarantees a return to Rome to those who toss coins into the Trevi Fountain.

We look forward to seeing/welcoming you in 2024 for an experience of a lifetime.

With Regards
Nanomaterials 2024

ABOUT ROME

Rome is the capital city of Italy. It is also the capital of the Lazio region, the centre of the Metropolitan City of Rome. It is not just a city of ancient monuments; it is also a city of vibrant culture and traditions. It was the 14th most visited city in the world, with 8.6 million tourists, the third most visited city in the European Union, and the most popular tourist destination in Italy. The country is known for its mesmerizing topography, pristine beaches, historical artifacts, monuments, and more. Rome is a city known for its numerous fountains, built-in all different styles, from Classical and Medieval, to Baroque and Neoclassical. It has more churches than any other city. It became the most powerful state in the world by the first century BCE through a combination of military power, political flexibility, economic expansion, and more than a bit of good luck. Every year millions of tourists come from around the world to admire the treasures and masterpieces of Roman history, art and architecture. It has an immensely rich historical heritage, making it one of Europe's world's most visited, famous, influential and beautiful capitals.

Rome cannot be called an industrial city, although it has a fair amount of medium and light industries. Among these have been the engineering, electronics, and chemical industries, as well as printing, clothing manufacture, and food processing. The city is located on the banks of the river Tiber and was founded on top of seven hills; Palatine Hill, Aventine Hill, Capitoline Hill, Caelian Hill, Esquiline Hill, Quirinal Hill and Viminal Hill. Particularly the area around Palatine Hill and Capitoline Hill would later become the centre of power of the enormous Roman Empire.
