About the conference

The 7th International Conference on Nursing, Midwifery, and Women's Health, scheduled for August 21-22, 2025, in Paris, France, is set to be a premier event for advancing nursing, midwifery, and women's health practices. This conference brings together educators, researchers, and healthcare practitioners from around the world to share cutting-edge research, innovative methodologies, and emerging trends in nursing, midwifery, and women's health.

The conference's theme, "Empowering Care: Innovations and Advancements in Nursing, Midwifery and Women's Health for a Healthier Future," highlights the importance of equipping the nursing workforce to meet contemporary healthcare challenges. Key topics include curriculum development, technology integration in nursing education, clinical women's health and research strategies for evidence-based care.

Keynote speakers will present on pioneering developments, focusing on how educational advancements in nursing can improve patient outcomes and healthcare efficiency. Breakout sessions and panel discussions will cover a range of subjects, including women's health ethics, leadership in healthcare and strategies for supporting mental health among healthcare professionals
