Conference Invitation

Dear Attendees,

After successfully Completion of the previous Probiotics 2020, Conferenceseriesllc Ltd officially announcing 11th International Conference on Probiotics and Prebiotics.

The webinar, Probiotics 2021, takes place June 28-29, 2021. Probiotics 2021 will continue to provide the real-life opportunities to network, learn and engage that participants have come to know, value and expect. Join the specialists in a highly interactive environment featuring video-streaming presentations with live Q&A, on-demand sessions, interactive booths on the exhibition floor, an engaging poster hall, and more.

Probiotics 2021 is focusing on all things related to prebiotics, probiotics and the microbiome. The webinar brings together experts and leaders from global industries and academia to discuss the recent topics and present top level insights. The numerous presentations on probiotics discovery and product development and regulation, as well as prebiotics, diet and nutrition will be hosted in Probiotics 2021. This webinar provides a networking experience in which academia/ industry collaborations are forged to translate research into clinical trials. Moreover, you'll have ample opportunity to review poster presentations and meet with exhibitors showcasing the new services and products.

In light of the ongoing COVID19 public health emergency, Probiotics 2021 will take place as an online event from June 28-29, 2021. Renowned speakers will present their latest research results on pre- and probiotics and the gut microbiome, the microbiome beyond the gut (reproductive organs, oral cavity, nose, lung, skin, eye), the microbiota-gut-brain axis, and more. Have a glance at our detailed programme to understand more about each session.

Do not miss this outstanding opportunity!
