Welcome Message

Welcome Message

Dear Fellows,

It is a great pleasure to welcome you all to the International Conference on Social Sciences & Interdisciplinary Studies happening in London, UK during August 7 and 8, 2017. This conference will host researchers from the social science and allied fields discussing their dynamic work on major global issues, such as health and medicine, and the interplay with human society and social relationships.

As a global platform, I regard the event as an excellent opportunity to exchange ideas and get acquainted with the research results of the attendants from around the world. In particular, this conference will highlight work on Social Science and Medicine, looking at social aspects of physical and mental health, issues of culture and disease, and policy and institutional development focused on medicine and health, along with many other topics. The tremendous growth of research focused on addressing the human condition and societal relationships as they relate to all that impacts health and medicine is contributing to the emergence of a better world in this millennium. This is your opportunity to learn about the most recent happenings, the newest developments, and the latest updates on social science research. I believe you will find the conference educational and inspiring. Thus, it is with great pleasure that I welcome you to join us at the most awaiting conferences and wish you a stimulating exchange across disciplines and across nations.

Welcome Message

Welcome Message

Dear Colleagues,

Welcome to Social Sciences Congress!

As a member of the Organizing Committee, I am delighted to join Dr. Donna Lybecker in welcoming you all to the International Conference on Social Sciences & Interdisciplinary Studies to be held in London, UK August 7-8, 2017. I am especially excited to hear about perspectives on major global health issues from both a Social Science and a Medical perspective. Even more exciting is an opportunity for us to network with researchers from around the world, cross-talk and engage in intellectual discourse about societal health problems, and perhaps begin planting the seeds for the development of collaborative projects.

This conference seems particularly timely given the continued rise in societal health care problems and the potential on-going limitations of resources committed to these problems. Hence, there is a growing need for more integrative and interdisciplinary approaches to tackle global health issues. It is with great pleasure that I welcome you to an exciting platform for interdisciplinary and global engagement and I hope that you find the conference to be highly beneficial.

Best Regards,

Chana Akins, PhD

Welcome Message

Welcome Message

Dear Colleagues,

Welcome to Social Sciences Congress!

I am delighted to be associated with the International Conference on Social Sciences and Interdisciplinary Studies to be held at London, during August 7-8. 2017. The complexity of the challenges humans face in the current days, calls for multi - disciplinary approach and strategies. All the nations are committed to the Sustainable Development Goals, SDGs and the planning and implementation road map for achieving the same requires multi sectorial approach with active participation of all the stakeholders. Research indicates that improvement in socio economic status, behavioral patterns, living conditions and medical infrastructure is imperative for achieving the health related goals and targets. To cite another example, nutrition status of children would depend on food security, availability and consumption and food security is linked to climate change. Isolated approaches and strategies would be partially successful.

This International conference provides a global platform for discussions, and sharing of experiences, best practices, success stories, failures, strategies that worked and that did not yield the expected results. Collective thinking, action and active participation of researchers and scholars working in health, social sciences and other disciplines would go a long way in making positive impact on lives of millions of people across the world. The conference deliberations and recommendations would be of immense use for policy making and program design. I wish the conference a grand success and hope that it would enrich the understanding of the research community and development practitioners in terms of linkages between various disciplines with reference to holistic human development.

Best Wishes
