About the conference

Welcome to the official website of the 6th International Conference on Vaccines, Vaccination, and Immunization, slated to take place on August 26-27, 2024 in the picturesque city of Paris, France. With a steadfast commitment to advancing global health, this conference serves as a pivotal platform for the exchange of cutting-edge knowledge, breakthrough research, and innovative strategies in the fields of vaccines, vaccination, and immunization.

Our goal is to foster a collaborative environment that bridges the gap between research, policy, and practice, uniting researchers, healthcare professionals, policymakers, industry leaders, advocates, and students on a shared mission to enhance public health through vaccination.

Theme: Vaccines & Immunization: Protecting Global Health through Vaccination

Why to attend the conference

Embrace Innovation: Dive into the latest in vaccine research, exploring new advancements and breakthrough technologies shaping the future of immunization.
Global Networking: Connect with a diverse group of professionals, from experts to emerging talents, all focused on improving health through effective vaccination strategies. Build lasting relationships and explore collaborations.

Knowledge Amplification: Learn from inspiring keynote speakers, engage in interactive workshops, and attend sessions covering every aspect of vaccines, from development to global impact.

Impactful Insights: Gain practical knowledge on vaccine development, immunization policies, and disease prevention that you can apply to improve your work.

Influential Experience: Enjoy a two-day event in Paris, combining stimulating discussions with cultural experiences that could influence the future of public health.
