Host City

Amsterdam is the Netherlands' capital, known for its artistic heritage, elaborate canal system and narrow houses with gabled facades, legacies of the city's 17th-century Golden Age. Rated as one of the Europe's top destinations, a visit to Amsterdam reflects a packed schedule full of museums, attractions, nightlife and festival activity. It is also one of the world's most multicultural cities, with at least 177 nationalities represented. A great and relaxing way to view some of Amsterdam is by taking a cruise on what Amsterdam is famous, because it has many canals. And if you're together with your loved one and should definitely go for a romantic dinner/candlelight cruise. Dutchy Foods which you can try in Amsterdam are Stoopwafel, Herring, deliciously fried Salt Cod, Poffertjes, Satay, Oorlog French Fries., Eggs Benedict and many more. Cannabis Coffee shops draw more than 5 million international visitors annually.

Vision & Plan

International Market Approach

French manufacturers used to control the majority of the domestic medical device industry, but the current market relies increasingly on imports as manufacturing shifts to other parts of the world. Medical device imports amounted to $3.8 billion in 2015, more than 50% of the overall market. However, French device manufacturers are sophisticated and formidable, presenting significant competition to importers selling in France. Opportunities in the French market: The French medical device market is robust. Manufacturers producing in-demand technologies such as diagnostic imaging equipment, disposable medical products, non-invasive surgical devices, orthopaedic implants, intensive care equipment, hygiene products, and other innovative products will find their products are wellreceived. Total market demand in France for medical equipment was estimated at USD 37 billion in 2017, with imports accounting for USD 13.1 billion. Imports from the United States were forecast at USD 4.4 billion, or 33.5 percent of total imports. This percentage is expected to remain approximately the same over the next three years, with overall demand growing at three percent annually.
