Market Analysis of World Cardiology 2019

Cardiovascular disease is the major cause of deaths affecting lives all over the world. These diseases are primarily related with heart and blood vessels disorders, such as ischemic heart disease, stroke, dyslipidemia, thrombosis, atherosclerosis, coronary artery diseases, peripheral artery disease, hypertension and others. These disorders are mainly reported due to obesity, high cholesterol, unhealthy dietary habits, lack of physical activity, smoking, excessive alcohol, and poor lifestyle. According to the World Health Organization (WHO), CVD is responsible for approximately 15 million deaths each year across the globe and it also states that it is a major cause of death in adults that accounts for 50% of total deaths worldwide.

The high risk of heart disease in the region can also be attributed to an inadequate and the high consumption of fat and carbohydrates.

Some of the other factors causing Cardiovascular Disease are

- Being physically inactive
- Being overweight or obese
- Ancestors of heart disease
- Ethnical background
- Sex – men are more likely to develop cardiovascular disease at an earlier age than women.
- Age – the older you are, the more likely you are to develop cardiovascular disease (CVD).

Market Analysis of World Cardiology 2019

The global cardiovascular device market is estimated to reach $69.3 billion by 2022, and it is forecast to grow at a CAGR of 4.3% from 2017 to 2022. This market growth is primarily driven by the growing demand for minimally invasive surgery, increasing healthcare expenditure, and growing geriatric population. The key opportunities for this market are increasing product launches and a large number of mergers and acquisitions between cardiovascular devices manufacturing companies across the world. However, lack of skilled professionals to operate these devices, stringent regulations & legislations, and a high cost of the devices & their maintenance are the key challenges faced by the market. These result in unfavorable market conditions for new players.

The market is segmented geographically into North America, Europe, Asia-Pacific and Rest of the World. North America is expected to remain the largest market during the forecast period mainly due to presence of a large size target patient pool coupled with high adoption rate for advanced treatments in this region. The U.S leads the North American market, followed by Canada. Asia-Pacific signifies the fastest growing region for global cardiovascular devices, due to the growing geriatric population and increasing awareness about various cardiovascular devices.

Some of the important Companies Mentioned in the Global Cardiovascular Devices are MAQUET GmbH & Co. KG, Sorin Group, Medtronic Inc., EndoPhotonix Inc., Terumo Corporation, SEMMT Inc., C. R. Bard Inc., Cardima Inc., Edwards Lifesciences, CyberHeart Incorporated, MedWaves Incorporated, Kardium Inc., St. Jude Medical and others.

About Madrid

Madrid lies on the River Manzanares in the centre of both the country and the Community of Madrid (which comprises the city of Madrid, its conurbation and extended suburbs and villages); this community is bordered by the autonomous communities of Castile and León and Castile-La Mancha. As the capital city of Spain, seat of government, and residence of the Spanish monarch, Madrid is also the political, economic and cultural centre of the country. The current mayor is Manuela Carmena from the party Ahora Madrid.

The Madrid urban agglomeration has the third-largest GDP in the European Union and its influences in politics, education, entertainment, environment, media, fashion, science, culture, and the arts all contribute to its status as one of the world's major global cities. Madrid is home to two world-famous football clubs, Real Madrid and Atlético de Madrid. Due to its economic output, high standard of living, and market size, Madrid is considered the major financial centre of Southern Europe and the Iberian Peninsula; it hosts the head offices of the vast majority of major Spanish companies, such as Telefónica, IAG or Repsol. Madrid is the 10th most liveable city in the world according to Monocle magazine, in its 2017 index.
