About Destination Dublin

Dublin was the most handsome Georgian city of the British Empire and a fine reflection of the aspirations of its most privileged citizens. Dublin, capital of the Republic of Ireland, is on Ireland's east coast at the mouth of the River Liffey and bordered to the South by the Wicklow Mountains. Visiting Dublin is like taking a great big breath of fresh air. Dublin was voted Europe's fourth most popular city break destination, behind London, Paris and Rome and is one of the friendliest capital cities in the world.

When talking about culture and Dublin, we should definitely consider the literature. This city gave birth to some of the most recognized writers of all times. Everyone has heard of the genius Oscar Wilde, the Noble laureates George Bernard Shaw, William Butler Yeats and Samuel Beckett, the enchanting Jonathan Swift. Dublin is where you'll find many of the nation's treasures, housed in the city's galleries and museums.

Dublin is widely recognized as a place of endless entertainment opportunities. The lush green parks in the city and the surroundings are a favourite spot for relaxation of locals and guests. It is strongly recommended that nature lovers and families with children call in at the Dublin Zoo. The city's traditional pubs feel unique, from the garrulous barmen to the picture-lined walls. Dublin is now a truly cosmopolitan capital, with an influx of people, energy and ideas infusing the ever-beguiling, multi-layered city with fresh flavours and kaleidoscopic colours.
