About Destination Copenhagen

Copenhagen, one of the largest cities in northern Europe, is also one of Europe's busiest hubs. The city's location has throughout centuries in an almost natural way created commercial routes to far and near.Today's Copenhagen is very easy to reach by air, sea or land. Copenhagen Airport, Kastrup, (airport code CPH) is a major Northern European air hub with direct flights to most larger European cities as well as transatlantic and other far away destinations.Over the waters of the Sound The Øresund Bridge, connecting Copenhagen and Malmö in Sweden, has made it very easy to cross the sound by car or train which runs around the clock. Copenhagen also has daily trains to Stockholm, the capital of Sweden, and with Oslo, the capital of Norway, as well as to many other major cities in the rest of Europe.The Port of Copenhagen includes Nordhaven, Frihaven, Langeline, Østhaven and the Prøvestenen's oil port. The harbour concentrates on conveyance of goods as well as passengers. When it comes to pure sightseeing, the Copenhagen port emerges as the brightest jewel and many international cruise lines visit Copenhagen.
