Welcome Message

Meetings International PTE LTD invites all the participants across the globe to attend the 'International Convention on Global warming and Climate Change' during March 21-22, at Singapore. The Singapore Global Warming meet 2018 provides an ideal platform to discuss the latest findings of Global warming and climate research and its consequences for society and industry.

Global Warming and Climate change has not only increased the air temperatures but also already the sea surface temperatures and the water vapor content of the lower atmosphere. For some weather perils and some regions there is already a strong suggestion that global warming has a footprint in respect to more frequent and more intense extreme events. This points out how important for prevention and adaptation measures it is to learn more about what we have to expect in the next future.

Climate change is a change in the statistical distribution of weather patterns that lasts for an extended period of time. The Earth's climate has been changing throughout the history. Just in the last 650,000 years there have been seven cycles of glacial advance and retreat, with the abrupt end of the last ice age about 7,000 years ago marking the beginning of the modern climate era and of human civilization. Most of these climate changes are attributed to very small variations in Earth's orbit that change the amount of solar energy our planet receives.

We're only now beginning to comprehend the complex and potentially volatile relationships between a warming planet, social and economic injustice, terrorism, the re-emergence of racist and autocratic nationalism, and the recent surge of human migration/ refugees.

Join the industry's leading executives from numerous leading organizations to discuss and hear unique take-home examples, case studies and multiple development and delivery strategies to assist in reducing time-to-market on future products. Attend to gain an unmatched experience in the Global warming and environmental science field.

We wish everyone an interesting and successful participation at the International Convention on Global warming and Climate Change and a pleasant stay in Singapore.

Sincerely,
Operating Committee
