Explore Moscow

Moscow is the capital of Russia and is located in the far west of the country on the river Moskva. It has a population of 11,273,400. It is the most populous city in Europe, Moscow continues to grow. This is largely due to its 20% per annum economic growth, which attracts workers (often illegally) from other parts of Russia where the economy has stagnated or is even in decline. An internal passport system making it illegal for non-residents to remain in the city for longer than 90 days is proving ineffective at combatting this trend. Moscow has a humid continental climate with long, cold winters usually lasting from mid-November through the end of March, and warm summers. Sheremetyevo International Airport is the most globally connected, handling 60% of all international flights.
