Explore Berlin

Berlin, German is the capital and largest town of Germany by using both location and population. Its 3,748,148 (2018) inhabitants make it the second most populous city proper of the European Union after London. The city is one of Germany's 16 federal states. Germany is a very popular location for studying medicine in Germany, offering very high-quality education at an affordable price. There are 35 governmental universities and four private universities that offer medical programs in all major cities and regions. Important to mention is that the medical programs in Germany are not divided into Bachelor and Master Programs. The medical training program takes a minimum of six years to complete and is taught almost entirely in German language. Consequently a very strong knowledge of the language is obligatory.
