About Canada

The expanse of Canada's natural beauty, from mountains and glaciers to secluded lakes and forests, is almost unparalleled worldwide. But Canada's allure is not just the great outdoors. Canada has cosmopolitan cities that are clean, safe, friendly, and multicultural. Canada is famous for the gorgeous scenery and uninhabited land. The views of the untouched and natural environment are breathtaking and composed of beautiful lakes and rivers. There are three oceans, mountains, plains, and some of the most attractive cities in the world, like Toronto.

But from coast to coast, Canada boasts some of the most beautiful, diverse, and downright cool beaches. Sure, they may not have palm trees, but what they lack in tropical flare, they make up for with surprisingly warm (and often turquoise waters), sand dunes, cold-water surfing, and more.
