Explore Vienna

In 1815, the representatives of the European powers - Britain, Russia, Prussia and Austria wanted to establish longlasting peace and stability after they defeated Napolean. Thus, they drew up the Treaty of Vienna of 1815 with the intenstion of undoing most of the changes brought about during the Napoleonic wars and creating a new conservative order in Europe.The Bourbon dynasty was brought back to power and France lost the territories it had annexed under Napoleon. To prevent the French evasion, a series of states werre set up on the boundaries of France. This lead to the setting up of kingdom of the Netherlands (inclusive of Belgium) in the north and the kingdom of Genoa (added to Piedmont) in the south.
