I am looking forward to hearing from you! The more perspectives we understand, the better the changes we can initiate in the ecosystem! You can also leave me a message and I'll get back to you.

About

Passionate researcher focusing on entrepreneurial ecosystems. Driven by the urge to contribute towards positive societal change, my research adds to our understanding of conducive and inclusive entrepreneurial environments. Within such supportive contexts, people are strengthened to implement their innovative ideas which accelerate regional and societal growth.

Before, I have built an innovation ecosystem in the North of Germany and facilitated knowledge exchange among diverse stakeholders. Following the "give before you get" paradigm, I helped to promote international exchange of young volunteers, worked with underprivileged women and children in India and been part of hackathons for the public good.

Having lived four years in India and since then worked and studied in numerous places within Europe, I call myself an explorer, always in search of new adventures and challenges. Recently, I have completed my exciting MBA-journey with distinction, which now complements my corporate experience in project management and my bachelor's degree in social sciences.

I am inspired by people stories and always open for exchanging ideas, knowledge and experiences. This made me join the management team of a non-profit organisation that aims to connect research and practice for sustainable regional development.

My mission is to transform the way you think—to transform your mindset around many factors, including

5 KEY AREAS YOU CAN IMPACT TODAY

#1 Humanity is facing significant health and economic challenges, and we need to find ways to tackle them.

#2 Future of Healthcare Report date 8-9-2021: Exploring Healthcare Stakeholders' Expectations for the Next Chapter By dr. Edmond, CEO Aloys Tan, MD, . Milan Selassie

#3) What You Believe: At one end of the spectrum, you see life as short and precious—you'll consider yourself lucky if you make it to 75. At the other end, you're focused on making "100 years old the new 60." You see aging as a disease, and you actively track breakthroughs in biotech (e.g., gene therapies, CRISPR, cellular medicines) that have the potential to slow or even reverse aging

#4) What You Read / Your Media Consumption: The type of media you consume (e.g., books, blogs, news, movies) directly affects your outlook on life—for better or worse. Are you reading the obituaries to track old friends? Or reading books like David Sinclair's "Lifespan," Are you staying updated on the latest developments in longevity?

#5) Your Community , Diaspora Nusantara london,Amsterdam: The people you spend time with shape who you are and what you do. At one end of the spectrum, you only hang out with older people who constantly talk about growing old and worry about death. At the other end of the spectrum, you spend time with people who are optimistic and youthful (physically or mentally), and who actively pursue longevity.

We are a Multicultural Coach and trainer specialized in spiritual leadership, personal effectiveness, team coaching, empowerment and parenting issues in the multicultural society.

Time has come to make a change. A mindset in our way of thinking what the world is made of, what life is about and why we are here on Planet Earth.

The youth of today are the pearls of the future. These pearls are on another level and dimension then their parents. It's time that we raise our children in a different way, with new and better ideas about what it means to be here, what is means to be a human being. Before we start educating our children, we should first tutor ourselves. Will you be flexible and move along with your time, or do you stick to your old habits and follow the same path?

Best,

Aloys Tan

THIS MY IDEA TO SHARE WITH YOU 2: Can be digital marketing and advertising company, headquartered in 3 continents. Provide and promote patient education for a variety of medical practices, courses for doctors and info for pharmaceutical companies.
